ProStack

The PROSTACK system is ideal for being able to create a double deck in containers and thus make the most of all the container space, especially for fragile and delicate products, where stacking of pallets is not feasible. They can also be used as a merchandise retention system.

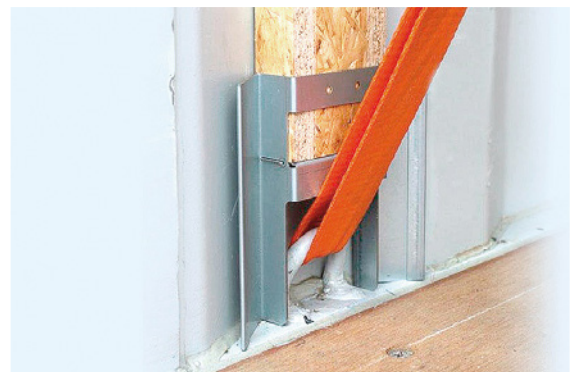

ProStack

It is the new and innovative patented stowage system for maritime containers. It can be used in all kinds of containers and allows fast, safe and convenient loading for the staff. Up to 4 charge levels can be created within the same container and is available in different heights.

Components can be easily assembled and disassembled without the use of tools and is a reusable system, recyclable and moisture resistant.

It reduces carbon footprint and increases cargo capacity in each container significantly reducing transport costs.
